

How can I help my child learn to read?

Every child learns differently. Start with something they enjoy. If your child is artistic use that skill to get them to read. Here's an easy tip to help:

Have your child draw a picture of a room in your home. Find ads in the newspaper that show pictures of things that might go in that room. Ask your child to read how details about each item and how much do they cost. Ask how much money would be needed to buy all the things he or she found.
