

Fun ways to learn: Comic Strip Storytelling

Be creative. Look through different parts of the newspaper (in-print or online) for stories, features and images that spark an interest in your child and use that interest to have some fun. Here's an easy tip to help you have fun while you're helping your child learn:

Cut out some comics. White-out or cut out the words the characters are saying. Then have your child write new words the characters might say. Or, cut up the comic strip into individual pieces and have your child put them in a logical order. It may not be the same order as the original strip.
